EXPERT TALK

Old age home

By Stanzin Dasal

Spalzes Angmo, Secretary, District Legal Service Authority, Leh: In the year 2014, J&K Government enacted J&K Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizen Act to provide a safe environment to senior citizens. The Act provides a comprehensive legal framework for the elderly care system in the state including the establishment of Old Age Homes and Senior Citizens Welfare Fund. It also provides constitution of Maintenance Tribunal, Appellate Tribunal, State Advisory Council and Conciliation Officers to address the issues of senior citizens.

The increasing trend of the nuclear family system, working children, busy life often let the old people left behind ignored and neglected. Old aged people are more vulnerable to the growing change and development and such law has become a need of the hour to ensure equal rights and safe environment for them.

In our society, people are reluctant to come forward and seek legal help. There are issues faced by the senior citizens but hardly anyone comes up with it. Reason being, the close-knit society we are living in where people know each other because of which many chose not to speak out. People still have a misconception that such cases are not prevalent in our society but the facts can't be changed.

District Legal Service Authority is extensively carrying out an awareness program to educate people about legal help and provisions. In genuine and needy case, a lawyer is also provided without any fees to the senior citizens who want to file a case. Also, under the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) method, pre-litigation is filed after which both the parties are called upon to share their part of the stories in the court. Such cases are resolved in the Lok Adalat and if the children are found guilty the court orders to provide all the care and maintenance. If failed to do so, the court can issue arrest warrant also.

Senior citizens in need of such help can come to the District Legal Service Authority office and register their complaint. Also, if the person is unable to come then in such exceptional cases a Paralegal volunteers meet the person at their place.

Earlier, in the past, many parents prefer to stay separately but the care, protection, and love remain the same though living apart. Things have changed now with the development and changing scenario, the idea of joint family is taken over by the nuclear family system. The age-old culture and tradition are gradually fading away.

It is very unfortunate to have an old age home but with the changing time, I personally feel that the idea of a recreation centre for the senior citizen is good. On June 15, an awareness campaign themed, 'Ageing with Dignity' on World elder abuse awareness day was organised during which Justice Tashi Rabstan, J&K High Court expressed the need for a recreation center for the elderly people in Leh. The centre will have a provision of all the facilities such as health care, cafeteria, library, legal service booth for easy accessibility. The project will start by the District Legal Service Authority in collaboration with District administration.

Maximum of the people are busy working and in such cases, the recreation centre will be a second home to the elderly where they can come and share their feelings and experiences with others of the same age. This will also, ensure security because keeping elders at home alone is also risky.

Senior citizen is facing a crisis and it becomes our responsibility to look into the issue, understand and avoid it.

Solutions:

- Awareness for everyone is must especially from the very young age.
- People need to limit their expectations.
- The generation gap needs to be bridged.
- The system of joint family needs to be revived.

Mohd. Ali Abassi, Project Director, HelpAge India: HelpAge India works for the cause and care of the disadvantaged older persons and to improve their quality of life enabling them to live with dignity and lead an active healthy life.

India's elder population is 110 million out of which 55 million sleeps hungry, 12 million going blind without treatment, 90% must work to survive, No pension, PF, gratuity and medical coverage.

The main problems faced by the elderly in India are:

Poverty	90% elders are from the unorganized sector, 20 million destitute widows and just 10% have a pension or financial support
Lack of Healthcare	25% can't access or afford healthcare
Isolation &amp; Neglect	11% live alone (By 2025, 25% of 60+ & 40% of 75+ will live alone) 12% feel no-one cares they exist, 13% feel trapped within their own homes, 21% feel alone, no social circle/support
Crime &amp; Abuse	Violence (42.2%), murder (35.5%), robbery (13.3%) Abuse, harassment, abandonment – by own children alternative livelihood opportunities for grassroots communities through eco-tourism initiatives.

A MoU between Mahabodhi International Meditation Centre and Pyramid Spiritual Societies Movement was also signed.

for his tireless work and selfless nature benefiting humankind in general and the people of Ladakh in particular.

Talking about the Shangri-La Pyramid Meditation Temple, Bhikkhu Sanghasena said that it will open more ways to serve people affirming the message of MIMC-meditation in action.

"People from all walks of life and any part of the world can practice meditation here and we assure that this pyramid meditation hall will be brought to its optimum usage", he added.

Besides that many scholars and guest spoke on the occasion.

When I first joined the organisation I felt that there won't be such elderly cases in Ladakh but after field visits, I found that the situation is completely different. Till now we have come across 40 to 50 lonely elders cases in which many are struggling for their livelihood and most of them have health issues. In a weekly rotation, we visit villages along with doctors who conduct a health check-up and provide medicines.

The growing change mainly the tourism industry has involved everyone so much that everyone gets too busy that no one has time for anyone. A person when turns above 60 age, needs special attention it's not just about providing the basic necessities but understanding their emotional feeling. We have come across many elderly in villages who are longing to see and spend time with their children and grandchildren. The migration of young people in the town in search of job, education and better facilities has left the old people alone in a village. Such cases are increasing every year and we see old aged people going under depression and loneliness.

Secondly, we come across people who feel uncomfortable to ask money from their children. We are living in a time where many parents are seen as a burden or a liability. We have cases, where a mother is abandoned by his own son. Besides, many cases go unreported.

Getting old is a part of life and we need to understand it. When people get old they find happiness even in small things. All they need is warmth, companionship, and happiness which become more important than food and clothes.

Future plans

We are planning to build an old age home in Ladakh to provide all the needed facilities. It is very unfortunate that even in Ladakh which is known for cultural values and tradition is in need of old age home. We already have two old age homes in Ladakh run by Mahabodhi and SOS and nearly 100 are staying in it. Now it seems that the tradition of respecting elders is eroding away with time.

We are also planning to carry out awareness campaign themed 'Bridging the Gap' in different schools on the importance of spending time with grandparents. Also, there is a need for elderly association in every village which will work for the welfare of each other. This will give a common platform to share their feelings, idea, and thoughts. If any member of the association faces a problem with his / her family members the others can go and talk to them.

Solutions:

- Spending quality time with the elderly people
- Awareness among children about moral values is important
- A strong family bonding is necessary.

Appreciation lets us enjoy the good things of life

Appreciation, sadly, is not appreciated these days. We have become an egoistic society, and we find faults in others' achievements as well. We have lost our sense of seeing and celebrating the good things of life. And, at times, we take pleasure in criticising others' good deeds.

It is high time we looked within and find out what has gone wrong with us and why?

Appreciating others, as well as ourselves, is the basic thing that contributes to peace and harmony. It is a sign of positive energy used for the right cause. As a result, it leads to the growth of collective responsibility.

American author Alan Cohen says, "Appreciation is the greatest form of prayer, for it acknowledges the presence of good wherever you shine the light of your thankful thoughts."

Appreciation of a good thing around you can be expressed in many ways. One way is the simple expression of saying 'thank you.' And, another way is to do the same good thing by you too and let others benefit from your work. Of course, you also have the way to respect and honour all those who are great doers for the well-being of the society. One should never be happy and satisfied and keep quiet when someone does a wonderful job. One must express one's joy at others' achievements; only then one gets inspired to do similar things, thereby resulting in many good things happening simultaneously or one after the other.

And, as Voltaire had said, "appreciation is a wonderful thing: It makes us feel what is excellent in others belong to us as well." That is to say, appreciation can make you reach a level of perfection in human development that you consider everybody around you as your own kind and beneficial. You have turned so positive that nothing but the light of appreciation shines on you!

In Conversation with Prof. Deskyong Namgyal, Principal, EJM College, Leh

Interviewed by Rinchen Angmo Chumikhan

Q. Congratulations. Recently, Eliezer Jolden Memorial College, Leh, was accredited with NAAC B grade. What are the advantages of it?

NAAC accreditation is a basic requirement to avail MHRD and UGC Fund. This is for the first time that in the last 25 years our college has been accredited with National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) accreditation. In terms of funding, there are lots of advantages. If in case we sent a project proposal, we could get funding from them.

So far our college has been run with very meagre finances. Until a few years ago, we used to get UGC funding of around Rs 20 lakh, and at that time NAAC accreditation requirement was not there. We got this funding only for one time. After that, they have made NAAC accreditation mandatory and the fund inflow was stopped in 2011-12.

Secondly, the teachers can avail of Faculty Improvement Programme which is to provide an opportunity to the teachers of the Universities and Colleges to pursue their academic/research activities leading to the award of M.Phil./Ph.D. degrees.

Thirdly, having NAAC accreditation itself is a status symbol. In 2019, NAAC ranking, the highest grade in J&K is B+. Only Government College for Women, Cluster University MA Road got B+ grade and after that immediately is the B grade which we got. It is very encouraging not only for the college but for the people of Ladakh as well.

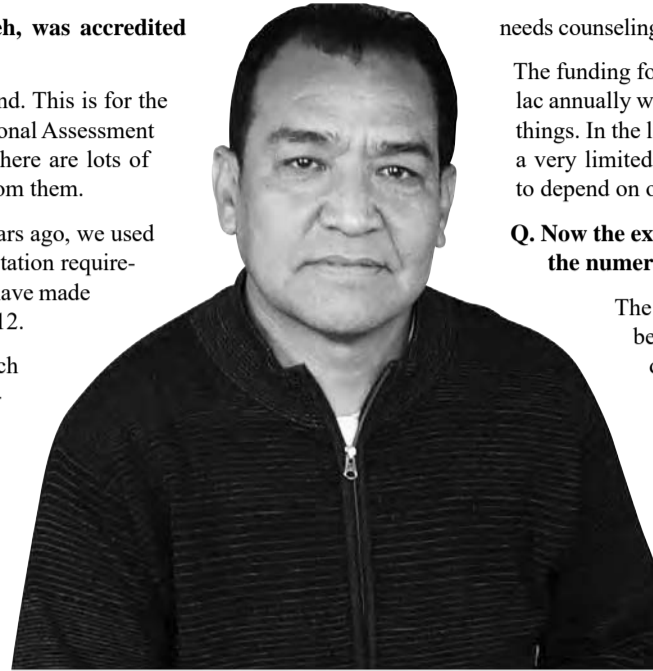

Like I have said earlier, there will be more inflow of funding, not only for construction but for organising different kinds of workshops and activities too. We can provide additional classes for students, we can buy books for the library and many other things. Earlier also, we organised workshops but that was with a limited funding. But now with this, teachers will also get an honorarium to conduct workshops. I hope now teachers will put in more effort.

Having NAAC accreditation doesn't mean that funds will flow automatically, we have to put in efforts and send project proposals as per requirement, and then it could be approved and sanctioned.

Q. How important is it to prioritise the education sector because the issue of lack of funds has always been there? What is the annual Hill Council budget for higher education (for degree college, Leh)?

No doubt, it is very important to prioritise higher education. All in all, education is something that simply has to be a priority over everything else. The role of school education is to make the base of the students and to teach them with morality lectures. The work of higher education is to guide them and show them proper direction for the future. But, here we are still running with the old concepts like going strictly by syllabus, and having to complete it; and exams are conducted, no matter the result. It should not be like this.

Infact, in higher education, class teachings should stop; we have to provide all the materials to the students. Monologue lectures do not have any role in higher education. Their development should be holistic and we have to prepare them for the future. Our approach should be different from the old concept and should be skill-based.

MESSAGE TO THE READERS

“Parents should keep an eye on their children when they enter higher education and should not neglect them. Many parents let them be free without any check. At least check whether they are going to college or not, what is their behavior, etc. Monitoring your child is worth the effort. And for the students, whatever your aim is, stay focused. Many students take it very lightly. This approach will not work in this competitive world.”

Presently, we have half skill-based courses that are academic-oriented where there is no practical hand. It's more of a theoretical nature. To provide them with skill-based courses, we have to show them practically; but due to limited funding, we are not able to provide them with the learning materials.

We need to understand that when we talk about higher education we should not simply think about education but there are many aspects to it. The students who get into higher education are of the age group that needs counseling and orientation. If they don't get all these things, then their future is bleak.

The funding for Leh Degree College is very limited. The plan Capex Budget is Rs 14.5 lac annually which is a very meagre amount. Due to limited funding, we cannot do many things. In the last financial year, we didn't have a penny even to buy books, and we have a very limited collection of books. Now, due to NAAC accreditation, we do not have to depend on one department for the funding, as we can look for other places for funds.

Q. Now the examination has been delinked from Kashmir University. Has it solved the numerous challenges faced by our students?

The college is still affiliated with Kashmir University but the examination has been delinked. Now, they have set up an examination sub-centre in both the districts of Leh and Kargil. The question papers of the semester examinations are also different.

From March next year, the new academic session will start, and the students who will take admission in Ladakh in all the five colleges, their affiliation will not be with Kashmir University, but with the Ladakh University. In a phased manner, old colleges will be delinked with KU. Now the problem of the students like delay in examination and degrees is partially solved, not fully.

Q. What is the present enrolment rate and what are the courses available? Any plan to introduce new courses?

At present, we have around 1,300 students enrolled in our college, out of which 75% are female and 25% are male. We are providing courses in three streams but with limitations. Now with the cluster university, I see a ray of hope to improve higher education. Earlier, the courses were designed by the Kashmir University as per their choice and they imposed those courses on us. But now we can design our own courses. The decision on courses will be designed by the cluster university. Definitely, many new courses will be introduced with the start of Cluster University.

Q. Congratulations! You have been appointed as Controller of Examination of the University of Ladakh. And you had the opportunity to teach in many colleges of the state. How has the journey been?

To be very honest, the journey has been very satisfying and happy. So far, I have taught in 5-6 colleges of the state. My main goal was always to be in this field.

As the Controller of Examination of the University of Ladakh, my priority will be to solve the issues related to students and then to introduce new courses.

Many university posts have been created, be it Registrar, Vice-Chancellor, Controller of Examination, and many more will be created. There will be more job opportunities. Secondly, the examination system will be smooth without any problem. Thirdly, we can design our own courses according to UGC norms.
